Linkages: An increase in services for individuals under 60 who are disabled. Growing demand for both formal and informal in-home care services. A trend of care recipients relying less on family members for support.

WCCS/RRSC: Seniors are seeking services at younger ages due to the challenges of living in the area. Approximately 20% of the caseload involves housing difficulties.

PPSC: An increasing number of male clients living independently, though most clients remain female. Rising demand for access to food assistance.

If Unable to Assist Directly, What Actions Are Taken:

Linkages: Explores outside services through Information & Assistance (with the Aging and Disability Resource Hub)/565-Info. Helps clients identify their needs and guides them toward appropriate services. Provides support in completing tasks necessary to meet those needs. Frequently collaborates with family members and other support systems.

WCCS/RRSC: Utilizes the online referral system through ADRH (Aging and Disability Resource Hub). Refers clients to local agencies not included in the ADRH system when appropriate.

Areas of Concern or Unmet Needs:

Success Stories:

Linkages: Shared a story about successfully connecting a client with Medi-Cal services, arranged for a home cleaning service, and provided assistance in obtaining a new mattress.

WCCS/RRSC: Shared a story where they supported a client experiencing homelessness who was living in her car. Assisted in signing her up for coordinated entry. Helped arrange for new tires for her vehicle. Enrolled her in a safe parking program. Facilitated the renewal of her driver's license. Supported her enrollment in food stamps and Medi-Cal.

Sonoma County Aging & Disability Commission Meeting

PPSC: Shared a story where they assisted a client dealing with hoarding issues in a 500-square-foot apartment. Organized sessions with a professional organizer. The client now has a safe, decluttered living space that allows for increased mobility and access.

Comments/Suggestions/Solutions:

Policy and Advocacy Efforts: PPSC (Petaluma People Services Center) expressed willingness to recommend policy and advocacy efforts to address ongoing challenges.

Collaboration and Best Practices: Emphasized the importance of sharing best practices among organizations to improve service delivery and address common issues.

Broader Initiatives: The Master Plan for Aging (MPA) may provide solutions to address some of these issues on a larger scale.
